

No Night Driving

For a teen, learning to drive during the day is rough enough. Learning to drive at night is much more complex. To be safe, don't let them drive at night until they master the basics in the daylight.

