

No Passengers

Every teen wants to cruise with their friends when they get their license. Don't let them. Friends are too distracting for new drivers. Parents should be the only ones to call "shotgun" with their teen for a year after they get their license.

